

Mission Statement

- To create a warm, inviting and open forum and community for feminists, their allies and those interested in learning about feminism.
- To raise awareness of the damaging effects of sexism.
- To provide opportunities for all people, regardless of their sexual orientation, gender identity, religious beliefs, cultural background and political standpoint, to engage with others sympathetic to the feminist ideology.
- To allow civil and respectful debate and discussions.
- To give people the chance to become involved in feminist activism.
- To highlight important issues, share and spread news using our web presence.
- To focus primarily on the social aspects of sexism:
- To challenge misogyny in the general public through education as well as public engagement and discussion.
- To use media to inform people about the problems women face, the damaging impact of patriarchy on people of all genders and how to combat external as well as internal misogyny.
- To celebrate the diversity of opinions found in the feminist movement whilst also keeping focused on common goals that would benefit all women, regardless of class, political affiliation or social standing.
- To have an open discussion about masculinity and how it affects the way the sexes perceive and interact with one another.
- To look at how conventional notions of femininity and masculinity directly affects social progress.
- To approach differences and conflicts within feminism through open dialogue, respectful debate and peaceful and diplomatic engagements.
- To network with, support and promote other individuals, groups and organisations that strive to achieve feminist goals.
